DECEMBER 23d, 1756. [Numb. 1175.]

The SOUTH-CAROLINA Gazette.

To the Inhabitants of South-Carolina.

THE juſt and neceſſary war which our King hath entered into for the defence of his dominions, not having been attended lately with the ſucceſs every honeſt Briton deſires, it becomes US in this Province, to awake, and conſider what may be the conſequences. It is not unknown that we have a vigilant and enterprizing enemy, who will leave nothing untried (by which they may hope to ſucceed) to diſtreſs every part of the Britiſh territories: Our public news mentions the enemy's embarkations, &c. for the ſouth parts of our poſſeſſions; whether againſt the iſlands, THIS, or the neighbouring provinces, to us is uncertain; but from their unwearied attempts for many years paſt, more eſpecially at this time, to debauch and ſtir up our friendly Indians againſt us, no doubt they have in view many methods to diſtreſs US, and will try many others which we at preſent know nothing of. Can we then reaſonably expect to continue in the tranquil ſtate we have enjoyed while the Northern provinces have ſo ſeverely ſmarted? No ſurely: And God knows how near the danger may be to us; who, I am ſorry to ſay, have been ſupine and negligent about our public ſafety. It is not improbable, that our enemies look upon this province with an evil eye, as it bids fair for rivalling them in the ſecond article of their American produce, and on many other accounts of which it is moſt proper I ſhould be ſilent; nor is it more improbable, that we may be incommoded with a viſit from them: In which caſe, ſhou'd they penetrate ſo far as to require our whole force to drive them out, what muſt be the concern of every breaſt, to ſee our Religion, our Liberties, our Country, our Families, in a word, all that is near and dear to us, at ſtake? and ſhould they prevail, what muſt be the conſequence? we muſt not only loſe thoſe valuable bleſſings, but our eſtates, which have been attained with ſo much care and induſtry, will become the property of the conquerors, and we muſt either go where they may ſend us, or, if permitted to remain here, become converts to their ſuperſtition, and ſlaves to arbitrary power, under ſuch outward means of living as they may allot us: May the God of infinite goodneſs avert all theſe dreadful evils from us, and make us more deſerving of his Mercy!

Under the apprehenſion of calamities, it becomes a reaſonable and prudent people, to make uſe of every mean which providence hath put in their power, for their defence and preſervation. The firſt and principal of which is, to humble ourſelves ſincerely before the throne of God, and with honeſt and warm hearts to beg his all-powerful protection, and that he will endue us with reſolution and fortitude in defence of the many and great bleſſings he hath beſtowed upon us. Whatever ſome people may object againſt offenſive wars, none who have their reaſon or ſenſes but muſt exert themſelves in a defenſive war, when all that valuable to them in the world is in jeopardy.

Our Fortifications are in a fair way of being maintenable; let us compleat them with diſpatch, and not by an ill timed parſimony loſe all; let us unanimouſly lay aſide all views to private benefit, and unite as one voice and one hand, for the ſecurity of the province: And it is to be hoped, that the Men who are to man the works and be employed about the artillery, will be inſtructed in the duty and ſervice they may be engaged in, ſo as to act their parts well, and thereby diſappoint any attack of the enemy againſt C.T without which inſtruction, all that has been expended and done will be uſeleſs. It is with great pleaſure I hear, that our Militia is to be put on ſuch a Footing, as to make it more uſeful: Parade and ſhew in time of peace may pleaſe ſome people but now every friend to his Country ſhould be rouſed and exert himſelf.

It is not to be expected, ſo compleat a choice can be made of militia officers, as to be approved by every one. The governor muſt ſee with other people's eyes, and appoint on the recommendation of others: And the inferior officers being choſen by the ſuperior, ſome of them may be miſtaken; but in ſuch caſe, every true friend to his country, every conſidering man, will do his duty faithfully, and, by a proper ſubmiſſion, as well as engaging others to the ſame, will endeavour to keep the whole united for our common defence. No pointing at little defects or failures (to which all men are liable) but behaving with reſolution, and ready ſubmiſſion, for the general good. It is incumbent, not only on the officers of our militia, but alſo on every private man, to be acquainted with military diſcipline, and when the knowledge of it is once attained, it can be no burthen, but may be of great uſe. The militia of Switzerland is eſteem'd now, the beſt in Europe, and, were the ſame means uſed, we might equal them. The capacities of the inhabitants of this province, eſpecially of the natives, are as capable of improvements as any others; and that courage which they ſhewed againſt the French and Spaniards, in their invaſion of this then weak province in the year 1706, will, it is to be expected, exert itſelf in the preſent ſett of inhabitants, if they ſhould think fit to try us. Let us not think that regular forces are always to carry victory with them: A militia, well trained and diſciplined, is equal to any regulars, as is demonſtrable from the many brave actions done by the Swiſs militia, in defence of their liberties: Without barrier towns, they have preſerved their country in tranquility for more than two centuries paſt: 4300 of them routed a numerous army, commanded by the archduke Leopold, at Morgarten; 1600 of them, beat and ſlew the ſame general at the head of 20,000 men, at Sempach; and 350 of them, beat 8000, at Wolen: Surpriſing acts of valour in defence of liberty! Our ſituation makes it neceſſary for us to be a military people, and by purſuing the Swiſs ſcheme, as to their militia, we may expect equal ſucceſs. Let us therefore endeavour at a courage and reſolution founded on the principles of religion and virtue; let us uſe our utmoſt endeavours, while it is yet time, to accompliſh ourſelves in the uſe of arms, and to have it in our power to act as regulars or irregulars, that we may be a match for either white or Indian enemies; and let every man, eſpecially the richeſt, be forward in ſetting examples to move where danger appears; but by all means avoid diviſions, which muſt diſappoint the beſt contrived ſchemes for our defence, and to be united and obedient to ſuperiors is the moſt reaſonable way to ſucceed. With the bleſſing of providence, and under ſuch a conduct as I have recommended, we may expect to preſerve our country, and the bleſſings we enjoy, let the enemy make their approach in front, flank, or rear.

PHILADELPHIUS.

COLLETON County, Dec. 10, 1756.

Mr. Timothy,

OBSERVING, by ſeveral of your late gazettes, that great numbers of privateers have been fitted out from moſt of the Northern colonies, and the Weſt India iſlands, to protect their trade and navigation, and diſtreſs that of his majeſty's enemies; and that not ſo much as one has been fitted out from this province: And conſidering the extent of our commerce, the dangers it is expoſed to by our vicinity to the French, the richneſs of our people, and that we have an enemy who are aiming to ſubſtitute (throughout America,) popery, ſlavery, and beggary, for our religion, liberties, and eſtates: I could not forbear, the other day, expreſſing my great ſurprize at the lethargic diſpoſition which ſeem'd to prevail amongſt us, in

generals, but more especially over the mercantile gentlemen, from whom something of the kind might have been expected, as they are more nearly interested in the defence of the trade: When a public spirited Planter proposed, that this county should (in imitation of the loyal counties in Great-Britain, and that the other counties in this province might follow the example) by subscription, fit out a vessel of war, to cruize upon our coast and protect the trade; and urged, that the undertaking might be conducted without any considerable exertion to individuals. In consequence thereof, all persons possessed of estates in this county, residents or not, are hereby solicited to apply some small pittance of the affluence they have acquired in it, towards forwarding this laudable scheme, and are requested to give in their names, with the sums they respectively are willing to subscribe, to the gentlemen here under mentioned, viz.

Deb. John Kerson, for John's Island.
Mr. John Cole, for Wadmelaw.
Mr. Paul Hamilton, for Edisto.
Major Thomas Loughton, for Horse Savanna, Strawberry, and Beach Hill.
Mr. Thos Ferguson, for the E side of Pompon.
Mr. James Sharp, for the W side of Pompon.
Mr James Donnom, for the Round O and places adjacent.
Col. Henry Hyrne, for the upper part of Ashepoo.
Capt. Thomas Hutchinson, for the lower part of Ashepoo, and Chehaw.

Who it is hoped will heartily promote the scheme, and are requested to correspond together, that when a sufficient sum is subscribed, the subscribers may be called together to settle the manner of carrying the same into execution. AGRICOLA.

CHARLES-TOWN, December 23.

On Friday last arrived here Capt. Mumford, in 12 Days from New London, who informs us, that the Provincial Troops which were with Lord Loudoun at Lake George, are returned to their respective Homes; but that the disposition of the regular Troops there was not known.

The same day arrived Capt. Cox, from New Providence, by whom we learn, that a French Sloop from Mississippi for Cape François, was lately lost on Abacoa: That the French Ship drove ashore at Maguana, was from Rochelle bound for the Cape: That while Capt. Beake was taking out some of the Ship's Cargo, a French Privateer retook one of the Privateers he had taken; but that he had brought the other safe into Providence: That the Sloop Ranger, Thomas Johnson Commander, (a third Privateer fitted out there) was gone on a Cruize: And that a Flag of Truce was preparing there, to exchange prisoners at the Cape.

'Tis thought, that a couple of Provincial Vessels, (like the Galleys we had during the last War, but larger) will soon be fitted out by this Government; one to be stationed at Port-Royal, to cruize frequently for Intelligence, &c. the other here, to be always ready to put to Sea upon any sudden Appearance of Privateers on this coast, and for other occasional Services.

We hear, that the Privateer fitting out in Georgia is in such Forwardness, that she only waits for 20 or 30 Men, as soon as she has which she will go upon a Cruize.
